AFTER 10 YEARS OF STRIFE, PEACE COMES TO MEXICO WITH OBREGON

MANY AMERICANS ATTEND CEREMONIES OF INAUGURATION

(International News Service.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1—General Alvero Obregon was inaugurated president of Mexico early today, succeeding Provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta. The ceremonies began at midnight. A large number of Americans, including the governors of three states witnessed the ceremonies. There are more Americans in the capital today than at any other time in ten years.

Ends Long Warefare.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1 — The induction into office of president of General Alvaro Obregon means peace for this republic—peace, the condition little known here for 10 years.

Of course it may mean progress, it may mean wise statesmanship and prosperity, but the people of Mexico want peace and they elected the most popular man in their realm to give it to them.

Ever since the election General Obregon and Provisional President de la Huerta have been busy pacifying all factions. His aim has been peace at any price, for Mexico never had a president or a leader that couldn't make war, but it has had few that could establish peace.

So the new regime took up with General Pelaez, in the oil district; with the General Zapata factions in the state of Morelos, with Pancho Villa and the Yaqui Indians in the north, the question of "peace."

It shortly went into the market still bought peace. Pelaez had caused much trouble in the oil district of Tampico, and he is now settled down to quiet life; General Zapata "died in action" six months ago but his followers were still menacing things, so a conference was called, and the story of how General Villa was put on a ranch in Zakatecas and given a life-time job of being good is too familiar to repeat. The Yaquis are quiet for the first time in years—in fact, it is said nobody but Obregon had been able to get them to abandon the war path.

Real Peace Worker

So the man who took office here today bids fair to become the world's champion peacemaker.

Villa and another brigand — a man who at one time murdered 65 persons and who has since been drowned—killed an Englishman in 1917, named Benson, Obregon didn't argue the question long as to whether the Mexican government was responsible for this killing. He simply said, "how much do we owe you?" and he agreed to give the English government $20,000 as indemnity to the relatives of Benson.

This transaction was made by the provisional government, but it is known that Obregon was the moving spirit of the peace program.

The provisional government sent Senor Roberto V. Pesqueira to the United States as the "confidential agent" of de la Huerta. His job has been to make peace with every interest that was opposed to peace in this republic. He divided his time between New York and Washington and he got the "price" of every interest, that is, private interest.

Seeks Recognition

In this respect it is believed Obregon will establish justice and depend upon the Washington administration to extend recognition, regardless of whether certain exploiters are satisfied.

One of President Obregon's first acts will be to float a large loan if possible. What Mexico needs now is money. The public debt is around $500,000,000 and her finances are in bad shape. The tight money market is probably the worst handicap Obregon faces.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST NEW GOVERNMENT

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—Coincident with the inauguration of President Obregon of Mexico, it was said at the state department that reports had been received of a conspiracy against the new Mexican government of which Obregon is the head. The state department is investigating the reports.

FRANCE AND ARMENIA

France's foolish obstinacy for her Armenian mandate is suppressed. The colonel Edgar Vidal has something up his sleeve, who thinks to pledge the League of Nations to the benefit of a resource, willing to save appeals, one can result of the report a committee. Never before has France been shamed by the gravity of the Ottoman Empire has been entered in his dominions and Turks fight their battles.

But, of late, the Soviet groups in the Caucasus have received from Europe the pledged material assistance and to Christian treasures and hospitals of Belgium crumb alike.

France's share for the safety of Armenian independence in the result of the Bolshevists' entrance upon the scene. France pretends to use violence that she desires to save Armenia from Turkish massacre, and by the next sentence suppress the great powers suspicion with the Turkish rebel bodies in Armenia as with a subsidiary government.

France's invitation to America to safeguard Armenia is in reality a childishly contrived plan to involve the United States in armed conflict with the Soviet forces of the Caucasus. France's policy of fighting the Bolshevik from without Russia has proven a dismal failure. France's Supreme policy is a handicap on Europe herself.

But, if France can persuade America to send an army to Armenia France knows the American commander will have to face Russian troops. Then that happens French believe the logic of events may compel America on France's side in the opposition in Russia. France is wanting not time. The web of French diplomacy will not trap the United States.

TWO ALTITUDES

"Young all things; hold fast that which is good."

Which half of this advice a man attends determines in large measure his relation with his fellowmen, his scientific attitudes and his very diet.

To "grow" something is not merely to expect about it; but to experiment with it, to try it.

Conservatives are those who are far from such venturesome persons because they realize that they might "grow downward," and so they cling fast to the old theology, to established methods in business and politics, to the lessons such by schools, to traditional diets.

And, holding fast to tradition, the men who argue they are able to hold together and to operate easily on a traditional and conventional basis. They claim not to narrow; but they know where they stand and where to find each other. So they are disinclined to "self-start" and undertake progress as can be made by well standardized efforts on a conservative basis.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

The dread white plague destroys 150,000 human lives every year in the United States. Tuberculosis spreads its darkening clouds over millions of people like the cumulus cloud. Many of these lives are made well with hopeless by the presence of poverty, for tuberculosis strikes hardest and most frequently in the homes of the very poor. Their hopelessness, too often, is due to their helplessness.

In every community there are many victims of the disease in need of home care and instruction so that they too can cure themselves and protect others.

Protect you and your loved ones!

The organized fight against tuberculosis needs your aid.

Will you help fight the white plague?

It has been made very easy for you to aid in the battle.

The least you can do is to invest in Christmas Seals, the money going to the public health nursing service, for the work of free dispensaries, and open air schools. Your money will go to aid human beings, who, more than any other, need aid.

Stick a Christmas Seal on every letter, on every package!

It is your Christmas gift in the crusade of tuberculosis.

FRANCE AND ARMENIA

France's sudden solicitude for the Armenians is suspicious. The eloquent Rene Viviani has something up his sleeve. His efforts to pledge the League of Nations to search the world for a country willing to save Armenia are the result of too rapid a conversion. Never before has France been alarmed for the security of the Armenians. France has been content to let Armenians and Turks fight their own battles.

But, of late, the Soviet troops in the Caucasus have crossed from Russian Armenia into Turkish Armenia. Propaganda to convert the Armenians to Bolshevism is on the increase. A recent Bolsheviki congress in the Caucasus pledged universal brotherhood to Christian Armenians and followers of Oriental creeds alike.

France's alarm for the safety of Armenians undoubtedly is the result of the Bolsheviks' entrance upon the scene. France pretends in one sentence that she desires to save Armenia from Turkish massacres, and in the next sentence suggests the great powers negotiate with the Turkish rebel hordes in Armenia as with a sovereign government.

France's invitation to America to safeguard Armenia is in reality a skillfully concealed plot to involve the United States in armed conflict with the Soviet forces of the Caucasus. France's policy of fighting the Bolsheviki from without Russia has proven a dismal failure. France's Russian policy is as bankrupt as Russia herself.

But, if France can persuade America to send an army to Armenia, France knows the American troops eventually will have to face Russian troops. Once that happens France believes the logic of events may range America on France's side in active opposition to Russia. France is wasting her time. The web of French diplomacy will not trap the United States.

TWO ALTITUDES

"Prove all things; hold fast that which is good."

Which half of this advice a man accents determines in large measure his religion, his politics, his scientific attitudes and his very diet.

To "prove" something is not merely to reason about it; but to experiment with it, to try it.

Conservatives are those who shy away from such experiments, perhaps because they realize that they often prove disastrous; and so they hold fast to the old theology, to established methods in business and politics, to the beaten path in science, to traditional diets.

And, holding fast to tradition, the men who argue thus are able to hold together and co-operate easily on a traditional and accustomed basis. Their vision may be narrow; but they know where they stand and where to find each other. So they get things done, they are "efficient" and make such progress as can be made by well standardized efforts on a conservative basis.

Radicals accept the other half of the advice, with sometimes more emphasis upon the "prove" than the "hold fast." They are willing to experiment; and as their ideas do not agree or work together very well, and often one of them is placed in power, if he is not weak, he is likely to be called self-willed or arbitrary, both because he is not accustomed to team work and because it is hard for others to see the goal he is aiming at. And since he is going a new way he will make blunders that seem to place him inefficient. His career is likely to end in failure.

But if his vision was true it will not be forgotten, and after a while when people are used to it, even conservatives will understand and try to make it real.

—o-o—

GOING DOWN, BUT—

The cost of living is going down. According to figures collected by the National Industrial Conference Board covering food, shelter, clothing, fuel, heat, light, and sundries, since the peak of prices was reached in July of this year, there has been a decrease in the average cost of living amounting to 5 per cent.

This is encouraging to the hard pressed housewife who has for many weary months now been trying to stretch fifty cent dollars to cover the necessities of life. But elation over the showing is tempered by the fact that the five per cent drop since July leaves the cost of living still just 99.5 per cent above the cost of living in July, 1914. The Industrial Conference Board's figures show that the rise in the cost of living from July, 1914, to July, 1920, amounted to 104.5 per cent.

The United States Bureau of Labor Statistics figures agree substantially with the Industrial Conference Board.

Thus the dollar at this moment is worth almost exactly 50 cents ($.50), compared with its purchasing power in 1914. Workers whose wages have exactly doubled since July, 1914, are no worse off than they were then; workers whose wages have not doubled had their real wages decreased.

With all this talk about wages having to come down in keeping with price reductions, it may be well to remember these figures, compiled as they are, by a group of very large employers for their own information on industrial questions.

MANY AMERICANS ATTEND CEREMONIES OF INAUGURATION

International News Service:

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—Gen. Alvaro Obregon was inaugurated president of Mexico early today, succeeding Provisional President Adolfo de la Huerta. The ceremonies began at midnight. A large number of Americans, including the governor of Ohio, attended the ceremonies. There are more Americans in the country today than at any other time in ten years.

Stole Long Manifesto.

International News Service:

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—The inauguration into office of president of Mexico Obregon occurs promptly at midnight, the hour set by the constitution. A long manifesto, in which General Obregon declares that the people of Mexico have been misled by the press of the United States, was stolen from the automobile of Minister Pani, who had been entrusted with the document by President de la Huerta. It was to have been read by Pani before the congress of Mexico. The manifesto is said to be a bitter attack on the United States government. The thieves are said to be in search of publicity and will not attempt to sell the document to the press.

Real Peace Wanted.

By the time this goes into effect Adolfo de la Huerta will have become the world's most famous private citizen.

The new president inherits a country torn by revolution and who has spent most of his adult life in fighting. Obregon is a soldier and a statesman. He has been in the saddle for the last four years, during which time he has had to fight off numerous revolutions. He has also had to deal with the United States government, which has been unfriendly to the Mexican government. But the Mexican government has now been recognized by the United States and the outlook is that Obregon will be able to give the people of Mexico a stable government.

Obregon has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election. He has also announced that he will not be a candidate for the presidency of Mexico. This announcement was made by him in a letter to Senator Edwin Y. Fergusson of the United States senate. Senator Fergusson is the chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. This letter was made public by Senator Fergusson. It was written by Obregon before he left office as president of Mexico. It was made public after Obregon had been inaugurated president.

Western Union Plans to Open Office on the Beach Shortly; Definite Announcement Soon

Business at the Beach Believed to Warrant an Office

While definite arrangements are being held in abeyance, to be settled by the end of the present week, there is every possibility that the Western Union Telegraph and Cable company will open offices on the peninsula within a short time.

Following conferences the past week between A. L. Cotm, local manager of the Western Union at Daytona, and merchants and officials of the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Chamber of Commerce, a visit to the beach was made Tuesday by L. J. Maxwell, district commercial superintendent, and W. W. Duke, district commercial manager of Jacksonville, in the interests of a beach office. All data collected, and propositions made will have to be referred to the Atlanta offices of the concern, for permission to establish a new telegraph office at the beach, but Messrs. Maxwell and Duke were of the opinion that a definite arrangement could be made not later than the end of the present week.

From conversations with those interested there is every reason to suppose that the Western Union will extend its telegraph service to the peninsula, thus bringing about an improvment in service which beach residents have requested for several years and which will greatly facilitate the sending of wires from the beach, as well as to eliminate the extra toll charge for beach messages, made possible at this time by interstate rulings, which make it compulsory for the corporation to charge extra for a message delivered more than a mile from the office to which it is sent, or into another town or city.

Several locations in Daytona Beach, in close proximity to Main street are under advisement, the definite location to be settled when sanction is received for the establishment of the office.

That such a move is contemplated and in every way possible is pleasing news to beach residents, who have been inconvenienced in the telegraph service given them for many years. The beach is anxiously awaiting definite word regarding the question.

New Movie Machine for Auditorium Is Expected Shortly

The new moving picture machine given by George F. Johnson of the Endicott-Johnson company of Johnson City, N. Y., has been shipped and is now on the way to the Daytona Beach-Seabreeze Auditorium. Mr. Johnson, who arrived yesterday, received the bills for the entire equipment from S. J. Peabody, who gave the order a couple of weeks ago and said he would send the necessary checks to cover at once.

Mr. Peabody has received the bill of lading, which shows that the principal part of the machine was shipped from Atlanta on November 24th and is now expected most any day. The big screen, the largest ever sent to this part of the country, was secured in St. Louis and will take a little longer to reach here, though it is coming by express. It is 12 feet high and 16 feet long, which is necessary because of the distance the light is to be thrown.

This machine is the most complete and modern that can be bought and is a duplex. The bills show the following equipment purchased and shipped:

Powers 6 B. model Cameregraphs, 110 volt.
Sixty cycle A. C. motor.
Rewinders, reels [illegible] inches.
Motor attachment.
Arc equipment.
Two 7 1-2 inch Gundlach lense.
Two 30-inch E. F. S. & L. stereopticons.
Ft. Wayne Compensarc, 110 volt, 60 cycle.
Screen, 12 by 16 feet.

As soon as the equipment arrives it will be installed at once and no doubt it will be all ready by the time it is needed for the first show. Mr. Peabody is very much pleased in the way the program and equipment for the winter's program is being delivered and arranged.

J. H. Chambers of Nicholasville, Ky., an old newspaper man and a crack croquet player, is here for another season. He has been here before and has many friends here.

Johnsons Paying but a Short Visit Here at This Time

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Johnson, who arrived Monday from their winter and business home in Johnson City, N. Y., will remain here at this time only about a week. Mr. Johnson said that Mrs. Johnson wanted to see how their new winter home looked, as there has been quite a change in it since they last saw it. Both appeared to be much pleased with the decided transformation of a very comfortable modern bungalow into a magnificent mansion, with every possible comfort and convenience. Their new home will long remain one of the show places of Seabreeze and Peninsula drive. Mr. Johnson says his brother, C. Fred Johnson, will be here in about a month.

Tuesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Johnson looked over the new home and gave some instructions as to the finishing of some minor details. It will be all ready for them by the time they return again for a more permanent stay. Mr. Johnson also took a run over to Daytona, and in the afternoon spent some time with his old friend, S. J. Peabody, and looking over the Auditorium and noting the changes in this fine home of amusement that have been made since he last saw it.

Wednesday Mr. Johnson with some friends went out for an early fish. He will no doubt spend a busy week, and the end of which he feels he must return to his business. He says he did feel the need, however, of a brief respite.

Mr. Johnson shipped his automobile from his home to Jacksonville, and then drove it down here from there.

Mrs. Lellah La Rocque, owner of the Palm hotel, and Charles Budd, a guest, made a business trip to DeLand Tuesday.

Mrs. C. H. Shattuck, who was very severely injured last April by falling into the orchestra pit at the Auditorium is now able to sit on the porch in a padded chair. The injury was to her spine. While it was at first thought possible she will not recover, she is now hopeful she may. She is a guest at the Palm hotel.

Miss Nellie Walker, Globe Trotter from Boston, at the Beach

Many people of Daytona Beach were attracted Tuesday morning by the unusual appearance of Miss Nell Walker, a globe trotter. Miss Walker's appearance was unusual because of her costume, which was a short jersey skirt and coat, well worn and exhibiting many patches, shoes such as the boys wore "over there," and the huge pack which she carried on her back, and because she took the middle of the street, scorning sidewalks.

Miss Walker says she hails from Virginia, but that she started on her long walk the last of last April from Boston, Mass.; that her object is to improve her health by outdoor living; that she walks on the average of 20 miles a day; that she sleeps out of doors in a pneumatic air bed; that she eats when she is hungry; that her motto is "keep smiling"; she says that walking is good for the lean and fine for the fat; that it increases the activity of the blood in all parts of body; Miss Walker says she was a sufferer from asthma and kindred ills and that she believes that if she can live for two or three years in the open that she will regain her health.

Miss Walker says her kit and pack weighs 12 pounds and that any woman should be able to carry that much and that she compares it with what the soldier lads carried and knows that it is light.

Miss Walker says: "Tell 'em I am 22, that's old enough for any woman."

Mrs. Anna Macey Griffith Returns from Home in Ky.

Mrs. Anna Macey Griffith is again at her home, 217 Hollywood avenue, after a very pleasant summer spent at Shakertown, Ky., where she was the guest of her friend, Mrs. N. J. Embey. Shakertown is one of the most popular places in Kentucky and is famous because it was formerly the home of the religious organization of Shakers. Sixty years ago the Shaker colony was at its height, there and numbered nearly half a thousand members, and at that time there was 5,000 of these religionists in the country, while now there is less than 1,000, and at Shakertown they have all disappeared. Mrs. Embey, whose winter home is on Hollywood avenue, Daytona Beach, owns and lives at the Shaker Inn during the summer. This place is visited by thousands of tourists every year, and the "Inn" is famous throughout the state for its hospitality, which is enjoyed by people from every part of the state and from many other states of this union. Mrs. Embey is expected to arrive at the beach during the coming week.

Aviators Are on Their Way to the Beach from Kan.

President G. G. Bailey of the Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from Coffeyville, Kan., from the aviators, William Lindley and Frank Stanton. They are on their way to Daytona Beach, but are being seriously interfered with by bad weather in Kansas. They sent the following clipping from a Coffeyville, Kan., paper:

Frank Stanton and William Lindley, aviators from the Kahe Auto and Aviation school at Kansas City, Mo., landed with their planes out near the refinery late yesterday afternoon and spent the night in Coffeyville. These young men are on their way to the Kahe winter headquarters at Daytona Beach, Fla., a distance of over 1,700 miles, and will remain there until next spring, when they will return to Kansas City via the airplane route. They go from here to Galveston, Tex., thence along the coast to Florida.

Director of the Children's Opera Is Expected Soon

Mrs. Hortense R. Reynolds of Des Moines, Iowa, who is to direct the putting on "The Lost Princess," the children's operetta which is to appear at the Auditorium on two nights, December 29 and January 1, is expected here any day. Mrs. Reynolds comes here direct from Denver, Colo., where she has been engaged in producing the same entertainment.

During this performance the "Mother Goose" rhymes and the story of the lost princess will be featured at each performance.

Mrs. Reynolds will bring with her all of the necessary costumes, many of which will be very rich and attractive. She will use practically all home talent, including about 250 young folks and 50 adults. Upon her arrival she will take up at once the formation of her organization, which she always finds quite a task.

She will be very busy up to the very minute when the cast makes its bow to the public. It is said to require unusual skill and patience to bring together in one harmonious body so many people who have never before appeared together in an effort of this size and importance.

Mrs. Reynolds comes highly recommended as just the person to undertake this great work and to be able to always iron out every little ruffle that may appear upon the service.

Prof. James Heaton, the new platform manager, says that the performance which Mrs. Reynolds will organize and direct will be one of the most artistic and enjoyable of the many splendid features promised for the coming entertainment season at the Auditorium.

Misses Anna Hays and Miss Willie Bryant, both of Lexington, Ky., are nicely located at the beach for the season, having apartments at 121 Atlantic avenue.

New Officers to Be Chosen for the Winter Season

Again this year the Tourists' Club of Daytona Beach and Seabreeze is getting busy and will do its part to add to the popularity of these two famous resort places.

The club was organized on the 21st of last February at the Auditorium at the beach when the following officers were elected:

President—A. W. Shaw, Daytona Beach.

Vice president—Mrs. F. A. Griswold of Lansing, Mich., and South Ridgewood avenue.

Secretary—Mrs. Anna Macey Griffith of Lexington, Ky., and 217 Hollywood avenue, Daytona Beach.

Treasurer—G. W. Gould of Berwick, Conn., and Klondyke Park.

To draft the constitution and by-laws a committee consisting of Dr. B. H. Ritter of the Community Methodist church; Mrs. C. W. Gould, Mrs. Sallie Johnson Burgin of Lexington, Ky., and Villa Marie, Peninsula drive, was appointed.

Meetings were held each Monday, the last one occurring on April 5th. As a result of the faithful efforts of the program committee, which consisted of Mrs. Mary Crenshaw Hunt of Lexington, Ky., and 221 Hollywood avenue, Mrs. Harry Johnson of Palmetto avenue and Mrs. Mary B. Wilson of Paris, Ky., and Atlantic avenue, some splendid social times were enjoyed, consisting of picnics, parties and teas.

All of the officers are thoroughly interested in the success of the organization.

Mrs. Anna Macey Griffith, the secretary, in talking with a representative of the News, said she was anxious to have every name of the ladies that had any representative here, have an organization of its own. The plan is to have every name have its own club and all the clubs unite together forming the Tourists' Club. Mrs. Griffith said she would like to see the Triple Cities united in this cause. It would be her plan to have a meeting of the Tourists' Club once a month and the various clubs unite to decide upon the time and frequency of their own meetings, their programs and social activities.

There is no city not a state in the union but has one or more representatives in the Triple Cities, and it would seem much to the enjoyment of the many to have all societies interest themselves in the work of the Tourists' Club. Only a few of the states have been far organized, but it is hoped that this season will witness a big growth and much added enthusiasm.

Vermont citizens held a meeting and organized and they chose not to confine their membership to the peninsula town, and their officers were chosen, representing various Florida points, as follows:

President, G. W. Morse, DeLand, vice president, F. J. Solomon, Lake Helen; second vice president, C. A. Ehrich, Daytona Beach; secretary, Miss S. J. Kimball, Seabreeze; treasurer, J. G. Robinson, Lake Helen.

Michigan formed a state organization with the following officers: President, George Van Pelt, vice president, Rev. W. M. Barbit; secretary, Mrs. F. A. Griswold.

Kentucky is organized and officered as follows: President, Mrs. S. J. Gaskin; secretary, Mrs. Sallie Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. N. J. Embey.

The committee for the membership of the Tourists' Club is $1. The money is used to secure entertainment and for the assistance and benefit of the members.

First Meeting Monday

The first meeting of the season has been called for Monday, December 6, at 2:30 p. m. by the president, A. W. Shaw, who wants to co-operate in any way he can, and it is urged that all tourists resorted and each and their wishes to make the season of 1920-21 one long to be remembered by all who are in attendance as to the spending this winter on Florida's greatest coast. It is understood that at the first meeting there will be a general reorganization for the coming year, including the annual election of officers and the appointment of the necessary committees to take charge of the business of the season.

The registration, or secret ballot, has a novel method of showing its preference with a clay pot of water.

Never mind what 'tis you need,

Frame this phrase up for your creed:
Buy at home!
Other folks may buy by mail,
You buy at home!
Help the home store to a sale,
Buy at home!
Every dollar sent away
Means a dollar here to pay
What is owed right here today,
Buy at home!
Are you for your town or not?

Cheaper elsewhere? Tommyrot,

Thompson & McKinnon's stock letter today says: "Merely looking at quotations of stocks does not convey all that has happened, and it is possible that many things that have happened may never be known publicly. Thus we have a change in the control of General Motors with the retirement of the genius who created it. We hear recently of changes in the ownership of large blocks of stock which do not appear on the tape. It is quite evident that the market is being relieved of some burdens, and sports are being healed. Evidently we are nearing the end of distress. The investor should now come along and take his share out of the market."
